Bari will adapt to your every need. Case in point: It features different modules with removable backrests that you can easily remove or slide into the grooves along its aluminum base, allowing you to arrange this sofa to suit every occasion. Its plush cushions and deep seats also make it incredibly comfortable, while its sleek silhouette will work in just about any setting.

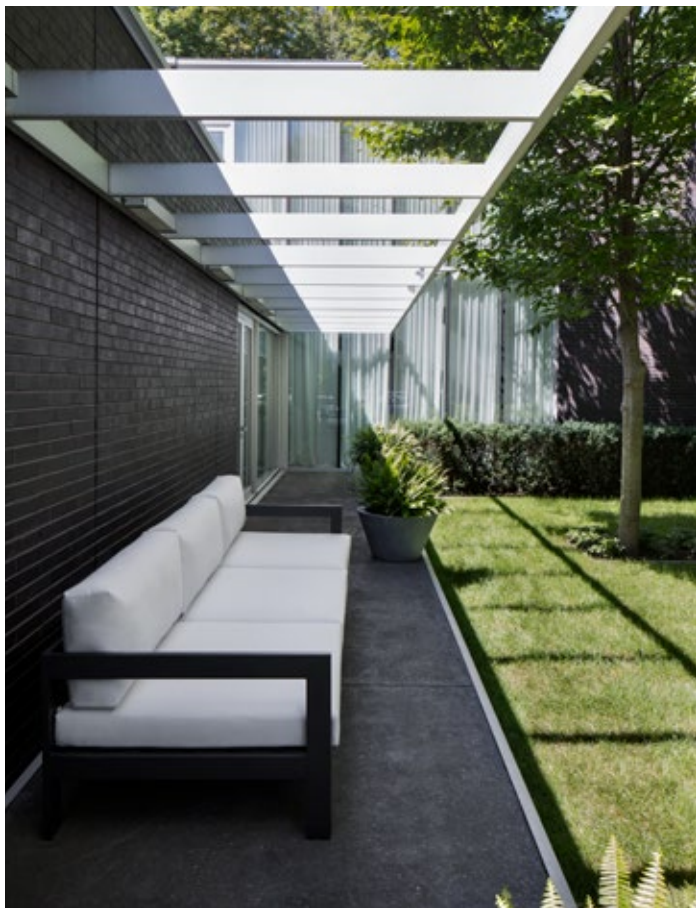

Bari by Jardin de Ville

Dockside by Jardin de Ville

Dockside stacks the serenity deck by playing the simplicity card. With its rectilinear forms and no-frills cushions, it will infuse your decor with a sense of modernity and calm.

3-seater sofa, starting at $4,896
 Armchair, starting at $1,918

The charm of this collection lies in the beautiful waves created by its seats. Crafted with an aluminium frame and covered in a weatherproof fabric, it features removable backrests, with curves that correspond to each module, for a customizable arrangement.

Designed by Kris Van Puyvelde, Organix will blend seamlessly into its natural surroundings and soften the look of rectilinear architecture.

Organix by Royal Botania

Mozaix by Royal Botania

Express your creative side with Mozaix, a collection designed entirely around a grid-shaped base in aluminium or teak. Customize your arrangement by selecting the number of seat cushions you want and adding backrests. You can also cover the open squares with enamelled lava stones to create a table or use them to hold plants and lights. When it comes to designing a summertime space that's as chic as it is comfortable, there are no limits with Mozaix.

Modular lounge, starting at $11,120

Milanese design agency Metrica gave the Flex sectional sofa its Italian charm by striking the perfect balance between modern styling and retro-inspired lines. Its gently angled frame combines the warmth of teak wood with the strength of powder-coated aluminium. The generously padded cushions, made locally in our workshop, are covered with Sunbrella fabric, a textile that's rainproof, UV-resistant and soft to the touch.

Modular 2-seater sofa, starting at $9,116

Copenhagen by Les Jardins

Perforated canvas, soft-to-the-touch fabric, grey slate and teak... Copenhagen combines modern and rustic notes for a bucolic-chic look. The collection's streamlined silhouettes pay homage to Scandinavian design.

Mbrace by Dedon

German designer Sebastian Herkner is definitely on the rise. Here, he combined multicoloured synthetic fibres and natural teak to create this oversized armchair for Dedon. « I wanted to use a traditional weaving technique to create a strong design, like a gesture—the gesture of embracing someone, » he explains. The best part? Mbrace is comfortable with or without a cushion.

Kida by Dedon

Let yourself be rocked to the rhythm of nature by Kida, this hanging chair conceived by globe-trotting designer Stephen Burks. Playful and airy by design, this cocoon-style seat features a tubular aluminium frame, covered in multicoloured synthetic fibres, and a cozy cushion. There's simply no better spot for admiring the reflections of the lake or napping alfresco in the woods.

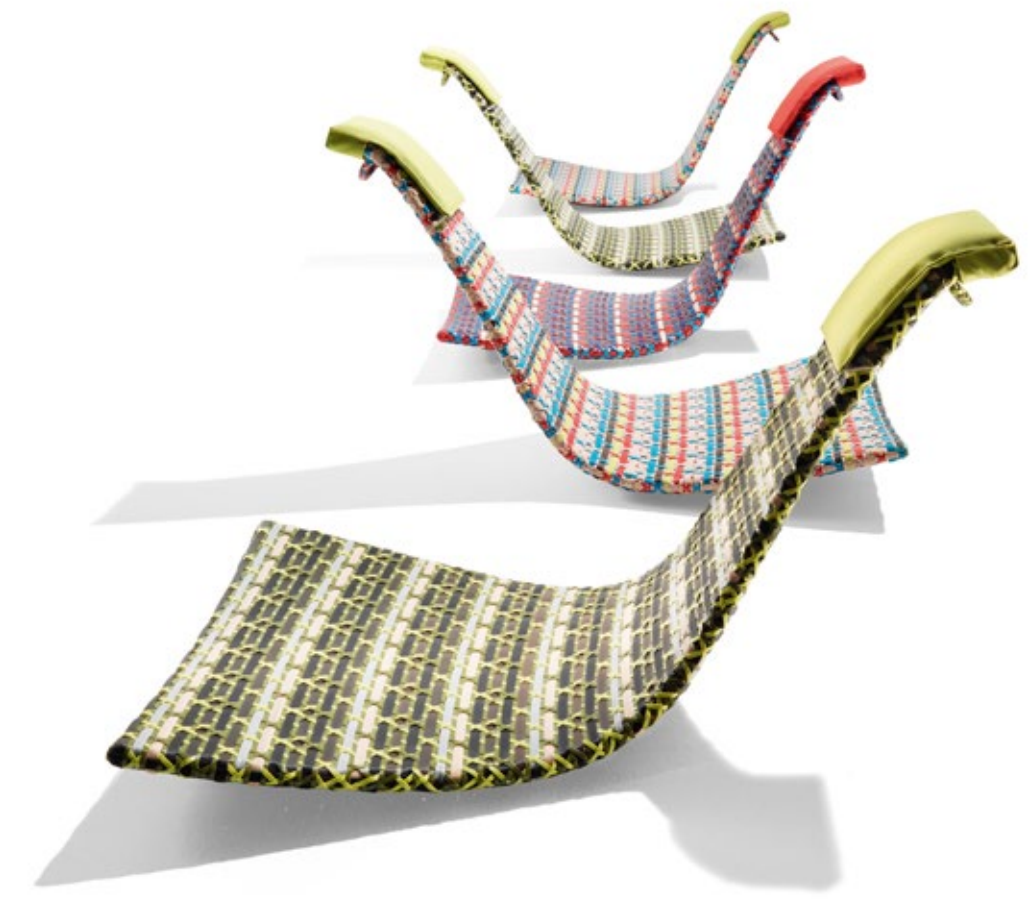

Available in our Quebec stores

Fedro by Dedon

Fedro puts a revolutionary spin on the traditional rocking chair with its playful and colourful design. Straight out of the imagination of fashion-savvy Milanese designer Lorenza Bozzoli, this legless model sits right on the ground and rocks to the rhythm of your feet. Its unique shape, along with the multicoloured woven fibres that adorn its aluminum frame, pay tribute to the tropical birds of Latin America. At once ergonomic and lightweight, Fedro goes from the edge of the pool to the shade of a tree with the help of its practical handle.

Basket by Cane-line

Basket stands out with its woven synthetic fibre construction. Designed for comfort, these armchairs and sofas are equipped with deep seats, spacious enough for sitting cross-legged, and generous back cushions that are incredibly soft to the touch. Opt for the collection in the natural colour to work the retro-inspired rattan trend, or choose the charcoal version for a modern and minimalist look.

Circle by Cane-line

Complete your outdoor living room with Circle, a piece that serves equally well as a footstool, pouf and side table. Its textured, rope-covered look and round silhouette will complement Basket's curved lines to perfection.

String by Cane-line

String was designed as a game of geometry, combining a rectangular seat with rounded corners and a straight-lined base with tubular legs. It also plays on a mix of different materials in teak wood and rattan. Don't be fooled by its delicate and natural look—its premium synthetic fibre construction was made for outdoor living.

Royal by Cane-line

Finish off your arrangement with these tables, made from eco-certified teak and conceived by designers Johannes Foersom and Peter Hiort-Lorenzen. Don't hesitate to combine different shapes and heights for a beautifully graphic effect.

Curve by Cane-line

31-32

Discover Danish design duo Johannes Foersom and Peter Hiort-Lorenzen's reinvented take on the wicker armchair. At once architectural and artisanal, this chair is distinguished by its spectacular curvature and hollowed-out sides, formed by a set of double-rod armrests wrapped in synthetic fibre.

As comfortable as can be, it will look as perfect sitting prominently in the centre of your lawn as it will accessorized by a large, decorative cushion in the colour of the moment.

Armchair, $1,305

Nest by Cane-line

A gentle tropical breeze, worthy of seaside cabanas, is about to pass through your terrace thanks to Nest. Created by Danish designers Johannes Foersom and Peter Hiort-Lorenzen, this collection plays on elegant lines and eye-catching, double-braided synthetic fibre on an aluminium frame. There's no better way to blend in with nature!

3-seater sofa, $6,285 / Coffee table, $970

Horizon by Cane-line

This modern and minimalist daybed has a galvanized steel frame so slim, its tightly woven synthetic fibre seat appears to be floating in midair. Its comfortable cushions, covered with Cane-line Natté fabric, are guaranteed to dry super-fast once the storm has passed. It's the perfect place to look toward new horizons, alone or comfortably coupled up.

Soft Rope Basket by Cane-line

There's nothing quite like a collection of rope baskets, casually placed here and there, to give your patio a bohemian air. They're also practical when it comes to tidying up and keeping a towel or blanket close at hand.

Daybed, $7,860 / Baskets, starting at $355

Wicker wonder. This enveloping armchair, made from steel and woven UV-resistant fibres, was designed by Danish design duo Hee Welling and Gudmundur Ludvik. Born out of an alliance between Scandinavian design and traditional craftsmanship, it stands out with its impeccable quality and timeless silhouette.

Maya by Gloster

A combination of simplicity and function inspired by Scandinavian design, Maya stands out in subtle style. Its ultra-slim aluminium frame is topped with comfortable cushions that can withstand the weather's every whim. The collection features multiple modules, allowing you to create a relaxation space that suits your needs. As chic on your lawn as it would be in your living room, this range also includes a selection of coffee and side tables with teak or ceramic tops.

There's nothing warmer than the glow of candlelight. Manufacturer Les Jardins reflects this fact with Tradition, a portable lantern with an aluminium frame and 500-lumen solar light inside. Pair the two available sizes together to create a graphic composition in the middle of your lawn or on a lovely stone wall.

Lantern, starting at $558

Add some stylish seating to your outdoor space with this graphic chair conceived by Italian designers Andrea Radice and Folco Orlandini. Its cast aluminium seat, equipped with armrests, is comfortable even without a cushion—all the better for allowing its openwork design to cast a beautiful shadow on your deck—while its angled legs offer added stability. Stackable, Rion can be made to order in 12 other colours.

The Frame by Jardin de Ville

Transform your backyard into a functional and comfortable living space. With a divided roof equipped with adjustable louvres, The Frame pergola allows you to keep one side in the shade and the other in the sun. Its rectilinear aluminium structure, meanwhile, stands at an impressive height, creating the illusion of grandeur.

Sleek by Jardin de Ville

Making open-air living more comfortable is Sleek's number one mission. This strikingly tall pavilion was designed to let you enjoy the outdoors with greater peace of mind. During the day, the Sleek pavilion offers an escape from the sun, allowing you to relax in the shade. Come nightfall, its curtains protect you from mosquitoes and let you prolong your evening.

Designed by Jardin de Ville, the Sleek Pavilion is crafted in Canada from carefully selected, top-quality materials, including locally made anodized aluminium. Discover the structure's standard features and customize it with the options of your choice.

Italian brand Fast tapped Barcelona design agency Lievore Altherr to create the Zebra armchair. This modern-style seat combines the strength of aluminium with an airy construction that plays on slim bands and open space. The optional cushions are rain, stain and UV resistant.

Strappy by Royal Botania

Strappy makes a statement with the straps of its seat, which seem to hang suspended inside its slim, stainless-steel frame. The straps happen to conceal sturdy aluminium slats and come cushioned for optimal comfort. The result is a splendid optical illusion by Kris Van Puyvelde, designer and founder of Royal Botania. The oversized buttons allow you to remove the straps for cleaning or to change colours to suit the season. Sophisticated and smart!
